

Employee Onboarding

Take new hires and retain them longer

The first day on a new job is filled with excitement, anticipation, and fear as that's the precise day HR leaders can make the biggest impact. 69% of employees are more likely to stay with their company for three years if they experienced great onboarding.

Why It's Tough?:

Information overload, poor handoffs, and evolving employee expectations

Inconsistent Pre Boarding

No SLAs in place for departments to complete pre-boarding tasks, lack of accounting & chasing updates is common, new hires not having everything they need on day one

Slow & Inefficient

Poor hand-off between various departments due to the use of paper & emails by HR staff. Communication is also adhoc and case-to- case basis compromising the onboarding experience

Slow Acceptance & Insertion

Poor first impression of the organization and its culture impacting on performance in first 3-6 months, ultimately resulting in new hire turnover

The AgilePoint Approach to Onboarding

We divide the onboarding into two main areas;

1. Resource provisioning and induction Provisioning Kicks off after a trigger event handling all key tasks based on deadlines and responsible persons.
2. The induction part of the app handles formal/informal training and employee integration tasks.

High Level Dashboards

A real-time view of onboarding performance, key activities, and bottlenecks helping HR leaders to focus on value-added tasks instead of chasing via email or in-person reminders

Automatic Triggers

Automatic triggers for onboarding process to commence followed by automatic notifications, reminders, and escalations keeps the process from derailing.

Accountability & Tracking

Assigning and tracking of tasks increases visibility and accountability. Even mentors or trainers are involved on-line with new-hires.
